

EWMA all versus EWMA original 13

Carles Vilalta (cvilalta@umn.edu)

Keypoints

- The EWMA of the original 13 participating systems is still a good representation of the overall EWMA.
- Questions from participants are always welcome and help us to provide answers and insights to all of you.

One of our participants asked if the EWMA of the original 13 systems (EWMA 13) was still related to the EWMA of all the systems that we are using in our chart from the weekly report. We want to share with you the chart where you can see the relationship between those two EWMA. The reason that the EWMA 13 is still representative it may be because they cover a wide area of the States and they still represent a high percentage of the final EWMA. However, as we have discussed in previous science pages each state or region seems to have a different EWMA pattern. Having the regions that are closer a more similar pattern.

If you have a question or feel that you think that something is important please do not hesitate to contact us to look at the data and provide answers. It could be more people interested and looking for the same answers.

EWMA vs EWMA13

